

Participants Sought for a

SARCOIDOSIS

Research Study

University of Arizona is seeking individuals with SARCOIDOSIS to participate in a research study funded by The National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute (NHLBI), a component of the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

This study aimed at gaining a better understanding of this lung disease.

Some or all of the following procedures will occur: physical examination, blood draw, stool sample collection, bronchoscopy, CT scan and x-ray of the chest, pulmonary function tests, and completion of several questionnaires.

Compensation provided.

Please call or email to learn more about our research.

Please say you are calling about the “GRADS Study”.

(520)626-4110

ncasanova@email.arizona.edu

An Institutional Review Board responsible for human subjects research at The University of Arizona reviewed this research project and found it to be acceptable, according to applicable state and federal regulations and University policies designed to protect the rights and welfare of participants in research.